

Earth Day at the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers at Allatoona Lake

The US Army Corps of Engineers at Allatoona Lake sponsored their 2nd Annual Earth Day Event on April 19, 2008. Volunteers gathered trash and helped create a nature trail in the Historic Cooper's Furnace Day Use Area. When completed, the trail will cover 2 miles and follows the 19th century railroad bed that once operated in conjunction with the iron furnace. Special thanks to Cub Scout Pack 2096, whose scouts and parents supplied most of the volunteers that day.
