

Germersheim Army Depot Hosts Joint German-American Earth Day Activities

On Friday, 25 April 2008, thirty three 5th graders from the host nation "Pamina Schulzentrum" volunteered to help Germersheim Army Depot staff with a number of Earth Week activities.

Together they planted three trees and approximately 100 shrubs and flowers and, with the aid of the installation's Fire department, deployed 10 bird boxes into trees throughout the installation.

On 21 April, soldiers of the 43rd Signal Battalion, stationed in the Heidelberg Military Community, helped Environmental Division staff build a "Scent Garden" for the Heidelberg Patrick-Henry Village Elementary School. Once the structure was built, pre-schoolers and 1st graders planted a variety of delicious smelling herbs. The classes will take turns at caring for the plants throughout the summer.
