

Earth Day 2007 in the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers Mobile District at Allatoona Lake

The First Annual Allatoona Lake Earth Day event was a complete success. Volunteers and ranger personnel worked for several hours reconstructing, marking and stabilizing a frequently used trail system in Riverside Day Use Park.

The popular Mountain Vineyard Trail is an excellent place for families to get back to nature and see examples of area history. The trail however had gone into disrepair in many parts because of washouts and trail misuse. With the volunteers help, the trail was repaired and back into service for the busy spring and summer season.

